Investigation nets third crack dealer

BY D.C. HARVILL

A New Orleans man was arrested by Bay St. Louis Police Friday night for possession of crack; the third such arrest this week.

Police arrested Rufus Johnson about midnight after a search of his Bay Pointe (formerly Bay Royale) apartment turned up crack cocaine, traces of powder cocaine, a .38 caliber revolver and various drug paraphernalia, according to Bay St. Louis Police Chief Ray Murphy. He has been charged with possession of a controlled substance with intent to distribute. His bond has been set at $15,000.

Johnson, a bail bondsman, had been arrested earlier by Waveland Police and placed in jail on a $3,000 bond.

Murphy said Johnson's arrest was a continuation of the department's efforts to curtail the drug traffic centered around the corner of St. Francis and Sycamore Streets. The arrests of two other New Orleans men were made Tuesday as a result of the investigation.

"Johnson is the man we wanted. He apparently was the one supplying the other two," Murphy added.

Jackson vendor sentenced for kickbacks to Hancock supervisors in 'Pretense'

Holiman Equipment Co. owner Max Gilbert of Jackson, who helped the FBI in its investigation of corruption in Mississippi county governments, received a three-year federal prison sentence Tuesday.

U. S. District Judge Tom S. Lee suspended all but four months of the sentence and ordered Gilbert to pay $5,000 in fines.

Gilbert was arrested in March 1987 on federal charges that he paid $500 kickbacks to at least three Hancock County supervisors in January 1985 in exchange for county business.

Gilbert was ordered to report to the prison at Maxwell Air Force Base in Montgomery, Ala.

by August 21 after pleading guilty in February under a 2-year-old agreement with the U. S. Attorney's office.

He was also ordered to serve five years' probation after the jail term and to refrain from doing business with any county supervisor in the state.

The Operation Pretense investigation led to the arrests of 57 supervisors in 25 counties on federal charges of mail fraud, bribery and extortion.

The indictments against three of the four Hancock County supervisors convicted implicated Gilbert, identified as a Holiman salesman, in a kickback scheme involving the purchase of a pothole patcher.

BY DENA BISNETTE

An attorney representing Waveland Alderman Curtis Colson Jr. contends that his client acted properly regarding a fire lane for a building he is constructing next to Choctaw Plaza Shopping Center.

When the matter was brought up at a Wednesday night board meeting, however, Mayor John Longo Jr. asked for Colson's resignation.

Colson declined an opportunity to comment on the matter Friday, stating that he preferred to speak through his attorney, Michael Prestia.

Prestia said confusion over whether Colson actually had an easement for the fire lane resulted when the property on which the easement was located changed ownership.

He said his client made the request for the fire lane believing he had the easement from Plaza Associates, Inc., which owns Choctaw Plaza and formerly owned the property adjacent to his building site, and was not aware of the impending sale.

City Attorney Lucien Gex said the matter goes back to the board's May 17 meeting, when Fire Chief David Garcia recommended that the request for the fire lane be granted based on a plat Colson presented.

Gex said there was no problem with the approval as based on the plat, although board minutes do show a unanimous vote, and, as city attorney, Gex believes an alderman should abstain from voting when his own business or property is involved.

Prestia and the other aldermen maintain that Colson did abstain.

The plat was recorded at the Hancock County Courthouse one day before the deed for the property sold was recorded, Gex said, and the new owners contacted him about the easement.

Because it turned out that the easement location did not belong to Colson and because the new owners said they had no knowledge of the easement, Gex recommended that the board rescind the approval of the fire lane.

The board accepted the rescission Wednesday and Gex said Friday that he planned to file the rescission at the courthouse on Friday afternoon.

Prestia said the new owners did not know about the easement because Colson had negotiated it verbally with Bob Longetti, Plaza Association's president, rather than the firm's legal counsel.

Prestia called Longetti at the firm's home office in Raleigh, N.C., Thursday to discuss the matter and has since negotiated with the new owners, a group of Hancock County businessmen. He stated that the new owners have agreed to sell the property for the fire lane to Colson.

The building project, a private commercial venture for Colson, will continue as planned.

"I'm just saying they didn't have all the facts," Prestia said of the other aldermen.

However, he felt Longo was unjust in asking for Colson's resignation.

"The mayor did not know, and we appreciate the fact that the mayor was looking out for the public trust, but the public trust was never violated," Prestia stated.

"No ethical violation has occurred."

"Before you ask somebody to resign, you should make a proper investigation and should not rely on hearsay."

Prestia also said that despite being an alderman, Colson should have the same rights as anyone else in the city and his fire lane request should have been treated accordingly.

The attorney said the mayor and city attorney would be properly notified regarding the results of his discussions with Longetti and the new owners.

Longo said he was concerned about the fire lane allegedly being on someone else's property, but he was more concerned about Colson having voted on a matter regarding his own property.

The mayor, like Gex, believes that it is improper for any aldermen to act on any matter "directly relating to his primary gain."

"The city cannot elect an elected official; the law says you can't act on any kind of benefits, an elected official," Longo stated.

He said the unanimous vote recorded in the minutes was not approved at the meeting, indicating to him that Colson did indeed vote on the request for a fire lane.

Longo said he had a request for Colson's resignation on what in his opinion was improper action. He said he was not on the problem with Colson owned the fire lane.

"That was in order," he said of the request, specifying that Colson was represented by legal counsel. He called for the matter to be resolved by Wednesday.

Ammo plant commander addresses local chamber

BY D.C. HARVILL

Mississippi Army Ammunition Plant commander Lieutenant Colonel Stephen Zakrzewski was guest speaker at the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce's Morning Edition Thursday.

"I wish I could tell you that we have a 1990 buy, but I can't do that," he told the group.

The Army announced last year that it plans to close the plant operated by Mason Chamberlain at Stennis Space Center. Approximately 1,700 people are employed at the plant.

He said they may not know until October whether the plant has been re-funded or not.

"It is a Catch-22 situation for me...my job now is to produce a good product. If it becomes my job to lay-away the plant I will do that as best I can and I am sure MCI will, too," he said.

The Army decided to close the plant, the only one producing the M483A1 projectile because of a budget cut and a need for need for other rounds, Zakrzewski said.

"I wish I could tell you that we have a 1990 buy, but I can't do that."

Lt. Col. Stephen Zakrzewski

ple are employed at the plant. Government and business leaders from Hancock, Pearl River and Harrison Counties, as well as St. Tammany Parish, Louisiana have begun a grassroots effort to keep the plant open.

"The Army hasn't received orders to close the plant, but we don't have funds budgeted for its operation in 1990," the colonel assured the group that the round is not obsolete, that it fills a specific need. It will probably still be in use "after we have all gone on to other things, perhaps in another world," he said.

The plant will produce 240,000 projectiles this year, the number it was intended to produce.

In no event the plant will be closed, Mason Chamberlain said, likely will remain as the only way contractor. Approximately 300 employees will be retained to maintain it, according to the colonel.

In the mean time, many employees at the plant are seeking work elsewhere.

"My own people are looking for other jobs," Zakrzewski said.

BY ELLIS CUEVAS
A group of active and former Marines of Hancock County will hold an organizational meeting to form a Marine Corps League Detachment.

The meeting will be held on Thursday, August 10, 7 p.m. at the Veterans of Foreign Wars Post No. 3253, Third Street.

Bay St. Louis.

Jim Mallini, acting commandant and Gerald Necaie, acting adjutant and quartermaster, are in the process of reaching all active and honorably discharged Marines in the county to start a charter membership.

The Southeast area of the Marine Corps League is in the process of starting several Marine Corps League Detachments along the Gulf Coast, and both Mallini and Necaie, would like to see an organization formed in Hancock County.

The league is a veterans organization of the U.S. Marines. It is composed of Marines and former Marines with honorable service in excess of 90 days in the Marine Corps with honorable service and is open to reservist, active duty, former and retired Marines.

The league is not a new organization. It was established in New York in 1923 during a reunion of Marines of the First World War.

Free 'Conservation Trees' booklet available from National Arbor Foundation

You can add thousands of dollars to the value of your home, bring songbirds to your neighborhood, and cut your energy costs up to 25 percent by planting and caring for trees.

A free booklet from The National Arbor Day Foundation, Conservation Trees, will show you how.

Conservation Trees is a colorfully illustrated, easy-to-use guide. It will show you how to cut your fuel bills by properly locating shade trees so that they provide cooling summer shade, but don't block the warm winter sun. And it describes how to plant a windbreak for maximum winter protection and a minimum of upkeep.

You'll learn how to create a natural habitat to attract songbirds to your backyard—how to provide a variety of needed habitat, and grow trees for food, even tips on maintaining a year round water supply.

The design of the booklet makes it easy to browse through to pick up tips. You'll discover how to protect trees during construction projects, correct tree planting steps, the importance of shading your air conditioner, how to prune shade trees, and where to get local tree-care assistance.

The booklet even includes advice on managing tree plantations for Christmas trees, black walnuts, fuel wood or timber, and how shelterbelts can save topsoil and help farm profits.

To obtain your free copy of this valuable booklet, send your name and address to: Conservation Trees, The National Arbor Day Foundation, Nebraska City, NE 68410.

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

Have you noticed how our days are getting shorter and shorter as we closer to the Fall season?

I am one of those people who like the season with the longest hours of daylight.

We have had an exceptional amount of rain for June and July and lawns have really been growing fast. Some lawns have to be cut every week. The cutting of lawns has been a problem for many because of the moisture.

I even have several hills caused by crayfish and they really work on a lawnmower.

I have been noticing a large number of the crepe myrtles blooming in Waveland and Bay St. Louis. The municipalities planted several hundred in recent years.

This is a time of year when very few plants and shrubs are in bloom and the crepe myrtles sure look good.

I have been noticing a large number of pecans on my trees this year and I hope they will 'hold' until harvest.

Last year I had only a pocket full of nuts as the vast majority of the crop fell before maturity.

Goodwill Industries has been providing a community service in Hancock County for many years and also operates a Goodwill Store.

Ange Morreale, whom I have known for many years, operates the store, located at the Bay Mall Shopping Center on Dunbar Avenue.

The Goodwill Store offers a wide variety of used clothing for all ages, such as babies, school-age, adults, work clothing, shoes, household items and other things.

Goodwill is also always in need of re-saleable items and will accept them between the hours of 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

Pickup service is offered for large items such as furniture and appliances; just call 467-7277 during the open hours.

On occasion, some large, large items which are in no way reusable have been dumped on the door steps of the Goodwill Store and this causes problems for Mrs. Morreale.

It has to then provide transportation for the items to the dump.

Goodwill needs all types of merchandise and appreciates the used items and, as a whole, the public has been generous to their needs so they can help others.

I hope those who can will continue helping Goodwill.

THE PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

From the Mississippi
Economic Council

MEC supports Bush's veto

President Bush vetoed the minimum wage bill because he was right on target.

The federal government has been telling us that the minimum wage is a good thing. It is not. It is a bad thing. It is a bad thing because it is a bad thing.

It is a bad thing because it is a bad thing. It is a bad thing because it is a bad thing. It is a bad thing because it is a bad thing.

Now, all of a sudden, a federal mandate that those five employees be paid $3.65 an hour must be paid $4.55 an hour. Production has not increased, but, automatically, annual expenses increased $9,500.

All the employees are needed, so cost cannot be reduced through layoffs. The price of goods and service could be increased and passed along to the consumer; however, that may hurt business as much as it helps. So, in essence, the options are severely limited.

Suppose that business closes. Those five employees who were making a decent living must now rely on welfare. And the owner of the business—what happens to him? Who pays off his loan? Could perhaps it cost him his house that was put up for collateral?

Raising the minimum wage to an unacceptable level is a serious matter. It can adversely affect real lives.

Further, no federal loan program or federal commission will ever solve Mississippi's economic problems if laws are made that force small businesses to close.

Not only are laws such as the minimum wage bill detrimental to the small business economy, but no businessman in this right mind would consider competing in a contest where the rules are constantly changing.

Again, President Bush was right on target.

INA JAM—This bus ended up in a jam at the intersection of Pincey Ridge and Gulf Streets in Waveland Friday afternoon. The driver was unable to negotiate a right turn and ended up in a ditch and then reportedly burned out his clutch getting out of the ditch. Waveland Patrolman Brett Ladner investigated the matter. Residents of the corner Phyllis Lenfant and Alice Evans, both reported they have requested better markings on Sears Avenue which leads from Beach Boulevard onto Gulf. Sears makes a sharp left turn at Gulf. Michael Williams, a spokesman for the New Day Drug Free Youth Movement Day Camp of New Orleans, said his group of adults and some 70 kids had spent the day at Buccannier State Park, and were on two buses which had turned off at Sears Avenue from Beach Boulevard. He said the drivers realized too late the road was restricted to bus and camper traffic. The first bus made the sharp turn at the intersection and the second one didn't. A Greyhound Bus last year ended up in the same ditch at the intersection. Lenfant stated that she intends "to gather up her neighbors and go the next Board of Aldermen meeting to again ask for better signs in the area for motorists using Sears Avenue." ## LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Job reassignment leaves Bay teacher questioning system

Dear Editor,

For the last 10 or 11 years I have used my educational certification grades four through eight for seventh and eighth grade math; most of that time has been in seventh grade math.

I do not have a math degree but I am knowledgeable, experienced and qualified to teach in that capacity. In fact, I prefer teaching junior high math and enjoy that age group.

Math is a hard subject to teach, but a very important subject. Thus, it requires the attention and dedication of someone who wants to teach it.

Many teachers avoid or refuse to work with junior high students because the students are at a perplexing time in their lives going from childhood to adolescence, naive and non-balanced, sometimes mischievous and often times uncontrollable—in essence, a real challenge.

In June, I was told that I would be moved from seventh grade math to the middle school. I was not happy with this change; in fact, I was devastated. I talked at length to all administrators related to the matter and finally went to the school board on July 17.

The school board chose to support the principal without question, stating that they were not educators, therefore they must trust these men to do what's best for the district.

I think all employees need support and trust from the school board. But none of us are perfect; teachers and principals can make bad decisions. One responsibility of the school board is to keep a check on all of us and to see that all certified and non-certified personnel are treated fairly.

I don't think administrators should make crucial decisions about personnel without proper consultation with these employees, reaching an informed and cooperative agreement. After all, these decisions have a significant impact on their status or career.

I went through the proper channels with my grievance. Everyone politely listened, but no one wanted to override, undermine or veto anyone's authority in the "chain of command."

The superintendent and school board have the authority to investigate matters and "right wrongs," etc., and each employee ought to feel secure in knowing that they have a voice, a chance not only to be heard, but to be reconciled in his grievance.

I am disheartened and disillusioned over the fact that one person made an important, crucial decision about my job, my career, and my future! And nobody questioned him, except me.

Unfortunately, several teachers throughout the district were moved from one grade level to another, or from one school to another, without much reasoning.

School starts in less than five weeks and many of us are faced with a new curriculum, a new age group, and new teaching methods and only a few or no supplementary materials.

For some of us, it's like starting all over again. I suppose we should get some consolation from the fact that we are believed to be "super teachers" and can adjust to any transition and still perform adequately.

There are, of course, exceptions where it was absolutely necessary to move someone or even terminate them, but this was evident in only a couple of the changes.

Good luck to us all this next school year in the hope that we can perform adequately and do justice to the children and the new programs; and with the hope that these random, sometimes unnecessary, movements of personnel will be ill-advised, educationally unsound and not tolerated by the school board in the future.

IN CONGRESS

By Congressman

LARKIN SMITH

Battles in the drug war trapped in Congressional maze

It has become increasingly apparent that the war on drugs and crime cannot be fairly characterized as such. What we are currently waging is, at best, a public relations campaign.

In Congress, you hear leaders talk about fighting drugs. You hear the administration talk about its appointment of the nation's first "drug czar," Bill Bennett, to spearhead drug-control policy.

But all these words will never be turned into effective action as long as the war on drugs remains a disorganized and fragmented effort designed more for its PR value than for an ability to get things done.

To bring home this point, I have launched a 28-day "guided tour" on the congressional bureaucracy over national drug policy. Each of the 28 days the House is in session, I am going to the House floor to point out one of the 28 standing committees that oversee the work of the national drug czar. That is not even counting the subcommittees, select committees and appropriations and budget committees that make up a maze of more than 80 congressional panels for the drug czar to pass through.

His path is so long that if Bennett were to begin testifying today before one committee or subcommittee each day Congress is in session, he would still have more than half of the panels to see after adjournment in the fall.

Ironically, the drug czar's position was created by Congress to oversee and coordinate all aspects of the war against drugs. This job was created, in part, to make certain that all agencies in the executive branch are working together and to identify one person who is in charge.

Now the drug czar is in place (since March 10) and working feverishly to establish a new office, coordinate all aspects of the drug war and write a report that Congress mandated he send to Congress 180 days after his confirmation.

When Bill Bennett sends his first strategy to Congress, who is in charge? Which of the 80-plus congressional panels does he answer to?

I suggest that we reduce the maze of committees with jurisdiction over drug-control policy into one single oversight committee. We need a unified, organized and efficient policy-making effort. The lines of command must be clearly drawn.

Only until then can we possibly develop battle plans for a national war on drugs.

IF ONLY THEY CAME WITH INSTRUCTIONS.

Murphy is alive and well at any newspaper office

Missing a day of work can certainly disrupt a person's schedule.

It's not so bad if it's a three-day weekend arrangement like Labor Day or any of those Monday holidays the government is so fond of, unless you work at a newspaper.

People who work in stores aren't interrupted that much because they don't usually close; they have a sale. People who have the same basic schedule every day, as in a restaurant, aren't that interrupted.

People don't find their schedules as disrupted if they work in an office where the closest deadline is the end of the week or where they simply do their work in the order in which it is assigned to them, the way mechanics do.

Newspapers, though, are different. They may have printing deadlines and a printing schedule, but you can't schedule when and how the news comes in.

That job's taken. It belongs to a fellow named Murphy. Everyone knows him; he's the guy with the Laws of How Things Go Wrong.

All newspapers are ruled by Murphy.

When a newspaper needs something for the front page and all its staff is at ready, Murphy is the one who sees to it there is absolutely nothing going on by way of news.

Then it's time to break out those artsy, scenic photos or stuff that isn't really news but is just plain cute; find a teen-age beauty queen in a bikini or get a quick shot of some kids selling lemonade.

When your front page is overflowing, the ad department has done a tremendous business but the paper is small so there are only a few little spots for news on the inside pages.

If something complicated happens on Monday and, with The Sea Coast Echo having a Wednesday deadline for Thursday's front page stuff, I move it back to Tuesday to write it when I've got more time to concentrate, a major upheaval in sports news will occur. I really need to get that done on Tuesday afternoons.

If that's not enough, some poor misguided soul who hasn't any idea of my deadlines walks in the minute I start writing—with no news; he just wants to visit.

Take a day off, and the world stops spinning at its usual speed and goes three times as fast because Murphy is doing Globetrotter imitations with it. Ask my boss, Ellis Cuevas, about holidays.

Only a few are quiet. Most holidays, the poor guy ends up covering a murder. When will these criminals and psychos start taking Thanksgiving and Christmas off?

I broke my foot last Friday, and was told not to drive a car for about 10 days. I also took the following Monday off.

When I got back Tuesday, great story ideas started crossing my desk. Naturally, Murphy arranged that most of them require use of a car and have to be put off. For some of them, that means they'll be too old to use before I can do anything with them.

This is like my first newspaper job—one of those places where a 70-hour week on a 40-hour salary was the norm. I took two lousy sick days in two years, partially because I was working a lot of 12- and 14-hour days, six days a week, and felt I would never have a chance to recover from the flu if I didn't stay home.

Both times, I ended up spending three weeks playing catch-up and still missed some news.

Murphy attacks everybody at a newspaper, like the time one person had a death in the family while the only other person in her two-man department was on vacation. The stuff we needed was in the computer, but getting it out of there without them was a different matter.

The worst thing that can happen, of course, is a press breakdown. Murphy's best one yet was when the press broke down and the company that had fixed the problem the last time had had some lay-offs—including the only technicians who could fix the press. Ellis found somebody, but it took longer.

Murphy also has something to do with judges. When somebody on a newspaper staff that's already handicapped because it's small is absent or has a car in the shop, Murphy sends one of the other two people in that particular department on jury duty.

Murphy is also the one who destroys a reporter's transmission the night before a press conference at Stennis Space Center or makes sure the car won't even leave the home driveway when one of those rare 8 a.m. assignments occurs.

Murphy sees to it that deadlines are blown and anyone fool enough to take a day off has to do triple-time to keep up the next day.

Murphy ought to be barred from newspaper offices. Come to think of it, he'd better leave my high-heeled shoes alone, too, so I won't break my other foot.

Needy hospitalized veterans helped by Applegate measure

Certain veterans who receive pension benefits and who are hospitalized for over three months will no longer face reductions in their payments if legislation introduced by Rep. Douglas Applegate (D-Ohio), and passed by the House of Representatives recently, is enacted into law.

Applegate's legislation, H.R. 1334, would remove a current provision in the law which limits to $60 per month the amount of pension payable to a single veteran who is being furnished hospital care by the Department of Veterans Affairs for more than three months following admission.

A hearing held earlier this year in the House Veterans' Affairs Subcommittee on Compensation, Pension and Insurance, chaired by Rep. Applegate, revealed numerous cases of hospitalized veterans being unable to pay ongoing obligations such as rental and mortgage loans as well as other payments.

In some cases, homes were lost and other financial obligations could not be met due to limited personal savings and income of veterans who were hospitalized.

"This measure will restore fairness and consideration for the handful of needy veterans who are harmed by this archaic law," said Applegate.

"Not only will we protect some needy veterans, we also allow the Department of Veterans Affairs to dispense with the costly bureaucratic red tape and recordkeeping associated with their keeping tabs on these cases, an important consideration given the lengthy delays in claims processing."

Applegate's bill also contains a provision that would reduce the length of marriage required in order for certain surviving spouses to be eligible for death benefits.

Customarily, if a veteran who dies of a non-service-connected cause has been rated totally disabled due to a service-connected disability for at least ten years prior to death, the veteran's surviving spouse is eligible for a death benefit at the same rate payable to a widow of a veteran whose death was service-connected, provided they were married for at least two years prior to the veteran's death.

Applegate's measure would reduce the general marriage requirement for this benefit from two to one year.

H.R. 1334 and other legislation of interest to veterans will be referred to the Senate for further consideration.

GCRL offers 'Coastal Ecology' course

The Gulf Coast Research Laboratory will offer a week-long course, 'Coastal Ecology,' for pre-service and in-service teachers July 30 through Aug. 5.

According to Dr. Sharon Walker, GCRL coordinator of educational programs, applications for the class should be submitted by Friday, July 21.

The class will include studies in botany, chemistry, ecology, geology, zoology and oceanography. Field trips, lectures, special reading assignments, hands-on activities and student presentations will be supervised by Walker and Mississippi-pi Gulf Coast Community College biology instructor Dr. Sheila Brown.

The class also will include a mini-workshop for Project Wild, an award-winning environmental and conservation education program sponsored by the Mississippi Museum of Natural Science and the Mississippi Department of Wildlife Conservation.

Housing will be available in GCRL dormitory rooms for students enrolled in the program.

For more information, contact Dr. Walker at P.O. Box 7000, Ocean Springs, Miss. 39564, or call 1-374-5550.

Reflections On Life

By Father Jerome
LeDoux, SVD

A special theophany

Do you remember that I wrote an open letter not long ago, saying that you are my theophany and that I thank God for you? Well, I am back again to share with you a few things about a special person who was a very special theophany to many people.

Born in Chicago a year before the turn of the century, he fell into the one month shy of June of this year when he would have reached the age of ninety. We think a titan had died, and we felt that a chunk of St. Augustine Seminary had been removed, and a piece of Bay St. Louis had been removed, and a part of the 5,000-odd Divine Word missionaries was gone.

His feet let no grass grow under his feet. In Lane High School, he took up the study of salesmanship and then of law. From attorney he went to a power company, worked at Crackerjack's for three years, and was receiving clerk in an office for eight years. Then he heard of the Divine Word Brothers.

Before exploring their lifestyle, he fondly spoke of his sleek Model-T, and of his great liking for and huge enjoyment of dashing rides on his motorcycle to the delight of admiring damsels.

At the age of 28, he entered the religious preparatory house at Techny, Ill. where he eventually made his first vows in 1929, assuming the name Theophane, which means "showing of God." In a scant five years he was sent to Bay St. Louis to begin what did not exist anywhere in the U.S.: the religious Black Brotherhood.

When Brother Vincent Webb, S.V.D. professed his first vows in 1937 as the very first black male religious in this country, Brother Theophane knew that his pioneer work in the church was blazing an uncharted, historic trail in Catholic history. He earned that niche which can never be taken away from him.

Obviously, he took his assumed name seriously in his own unique way, furnishing others what they could not get directly from God: an idea of how God appears. Mind you, this was all done without any kind of put-on. He just had a simple way of making anyone feel alive, comfortable and worthwhile.

Serious, yet ever ready with a smile, Theophane's was usually the first face any visitor to St.

Augustine Seminary saw, beginning about 1934 when he was charged with greeting and receiving visitors at the main entrance of the students' building.

At the same time, he spent most of the daylight hours and many of the night hours behind and around his desk as manager of the general office of St. Augustine Seminary. Through this office, he contacted tens of thousands of people around the country, requesting funds and used stamps for the support of our missionaries.

The seminary Rector observes that he sometimes tore Theophane away from sorting stamps and sent him to bed in the wee hours of the morning. Sorting, mailing for the Good News never seemed enough.

Theophane's "showing of God" was sometimes quaint, as we listened to him talk about his Chicago Cubbies or some of the vagaries of nature. At times, it was a hair-raising throwback to his motorcycle days, as he drove the beach express at breakneck speed around the curves on Dunbar Avenue, with students clinging to the wooden sides of the swaying truck.

Walking swiftly, even at midnight, he was the last to check and secure everything on the grounds. Finally, he could be seen making his last gesture of the day: kissing the crucifix in the hall.

Whether walking or riding his bicycle at 89, this Theophane could be my father, brother, uncle of theophany anytime.

Christian music vocalist Boyce to appear in concert

Kim Boyce, one of Christian music's brightest new talents, claimed two No. 1 singles, 'Here' and 'Love Resurrection,' from her self-titled debut album.

The former Miss Florida writes and sings music with a fresh pop sound that captures teenage ears and communicates a message that touches their hearts right where they are.

She will be featured in concert Aug. 5 at 8 p.m. at the Lakefront Arena in New Orleans. Tickets are $5 plus an offering. For information, phone (504) 286-3600.

At the top of every teenager's list of concerns is relationships—dating, friendships, family. The teenage years are a confusing time for every young person, and Kim Boyce addresses those struggles in her songs, as well as the way she communicates with her concert audiences. Students find hope in her lyrics, as she encourages them to face their problems in the light of a faithful friend who understands their deepest needs for acceptance and belonging.

As a Miss America finalist, Kim knows the pressure of trying to look good and be accepted—an ever-present concern for teenagers. "I want kids to know that their self-image depends on who they are inside, not just the externals."

Kim's ministry to youth is evident in her new Myrrh release, 'Love Is You To Me.' With songs that range from reflective to energetic, Kim's honesty about life and love hits home with the adolescent who needs more than pat answers.

Hurricane Camille anniversary program slated by Pass Christian

Twenty years ago this August, Hurricane Camille hit the Gulf Coast. The Pass Christian area was especially devastated by that storm.

The City of Pass Christian will observe the 20-year anniversary of Camille with a commemorative program at 5 p.m. on Thursday, Aug. 17 at War Memorial Park, located on US-90 at Fleitas Avenue in the city.

The object is not only to reflect on those dark days of two decades ago but to assess where we are today and to contemplate what lies ahead for the entire Coast's recovery from that most destructive of hurricanes.

DiNapoli-Wrensted

MR. AND MRS. MICHAEL DINAPOLIS

Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church was the setting for the June 17 marriage of Keeli Ann Wrensted of Waveland and Michael John DiNapoli of Slidell. The Reverend Peter Mockler officiated at the double ring afternoon ceremony.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Wrensted Jr. of Waveland. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Albert DiNapoli of Slidell. Live greenery decorated the sanctuary and satin bows marked the aisle pews.

Nuptial music was presented by Mrs. Sandra Foster of Waveland, who sang "Wind Beneath My Wings".

Escorted to the altar by her father, the bride chose a tea length gown of white satin with a chantilly lace overlay, sweetheart neckline and puffed sleeves. An open V-back was accented with a bow. Her fingertip veil of illusion fell from a lace caplet accented with iridescent sequins.

She carried a cascade of white satin roses and stephanotis, fuschia dogwood blossoms and royal blue lilies with iridescent baby's breath, white satin ribbon, lace and greenery.

Susan Mumme of Waveland attended the bride as maid of honor.

Bridesmaids were Amy Richardson, sister of the bride, Melissa Moran, Kelly LaFontaine and Andrea LaFontaine, cousins of the bride, all of Bay St. Louis; and Shannon Ging, niece of the groom, of Pensacola.

Flower girls were Mandy Richardson, niece of the bride, of Bay St. Louis and Christy Ging, niece of the groom, of Pensacola.

The attendants were identically attired in tea length gowns of royal blue satin, each with sweetheart neckline, puffed sleeves and full skirt below a princess waistline, with bow at the cut-out V-back.

They carried nosegays of minjmylar heart shaped balloons in royal blue and fuschia pink with iridescent ribbon and baby's breath

Bill Johnson of Slidell was best man.

Groomsmen were John Wrensted III of Waveland, brother of the bride; Ken Edenfield of Bay St. Louis; David DiNapoli, Steve DiNapoli and Hank DiNapoli of Slidell, brothers of the groom.

Serving as ushers were Drew Buras and Bobby Buras of Louisiana, brothers of the groom.

A reception followed the ceremony at the Hancock County Civic Center. Assisting were Mrs. Faye LaFontaine of Bay St. Louis, aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Genie McCarthy of Clermont Harbor, cousin of the bride.

The couple resides in Slidell, following a wedding trip to the French Quarter in New Orleans.

WEDDINGS, ENGAGEMENTS

Richardson-Lynch

St. Clare Catholic Church in Waveland was the setting for the July 1 wedding of Alice Louise Lynch and Kevin Michael Richardson.

The bride is a daughter of Mrs. Harry William Lynch of Waveland and the late Mr. Lynch. The groom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dwayne Richardson of Germantown, Tenn.

The Reverend Noel Fannon officiated at the double ring ceremony. Nuptial music was provided by organist Mrs. Mildred Means and vocalists Dan and Pam Griffon of Pass Christian, cousins of the bride.

The altar was adorned with wicker baskets filled with gladioli, daisies, and chrysanthemums accented with cascading ferns.

Escorted by Lynn Yarris, her brother-in-law, the bride wore a formal gown of silk organza featuring a fitted bodice of Alencon lace and pearls. The full skirt and train were bordered with lace and accented with pearls. Her fingertip veil of illusion fell from a wreath of silk roses.

She carried a cascade bouquet of stephanotis, phalaenopsis orchids and baby's breath accented with trailing ivy.

Attending the bride was her sister, Harriet Cloyd of Lafayette, La. She was attired in a peach tea length organza gown.

Charles Richardson, father of the groom, served as best man.

Ushers were Jay Vincent and Gregory Palmer. Following the ceremony, a reception was held at Bay-Waveland Yacht Club.

Upon returning from a Caribbean cruise, the couple will reside in Atlanta, Ga.

Marquez-Booth

Danielle Marie Booth became the wife of William Charles Marquez on June 30 in a candle-light ceremony in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lantz Foster of Waveland.

Rachel Hayes attended the bride as maid of honor, and Tracy Marquez, brother of the groom, was vest man.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andy Brown of Waveland.

She was graduated from Bay High School in 1987. She is currently employed with Pizza Hut in Bay St. Louis.

The groom is the son of Judy Marquez of Pass Christian and Vincent Marquez of Houston, Texas.

He is a 1985 graduate of St. Stanislaus. He is currently attending Coastal Training and is employed with Pizza Hut of Bay St. Louis.

The couple left for a honeymoon in Houston and will reside in Bay St. Louis.

SHOPPING UP A STORM

By Katy McGuire
Caire

"Cook up a cookout," invite Winn-Dixie supermarkets. "Plan a picnic"—in other words, let's get out of the kitchens as much and as quickly as possible these sweltering summer days!

Other area supermarkets sing a similar song these days, with all sorts of easy-cooking items and shortcuts on hand. After all, even the most eager chefs among us tend to shy away from long sessions at the stove these days!

One of the best ways to cut kitchen time is to cook a roast or a couple of chickens or make up a pot of meat sauce, and so on, then depend upon the leftovers, rather the "planned overs" for subsequent quick and tasty meals.

With the smoked ham shanks on sale at Jitney Jungle or the smoked picnics at Delchamps, you can cook one ham with sweet potatoes or baked beans, then lunch and dine on the leftovers with perhaps one meal of:

APPLE AND HAM CASSEROLE

3 cups cooked ham, diced
2 Tbsp. mustard
2 apples, cored and sliced
2 Tbsp. lemon juice
1/2 cup brown sugar
1 tsp. grated orange rind
2 Tbsp. flour

Arrange the cooked, diced ham in a 1 1/2 quart casserole. Spread with mustard (prepared) and arrange the apples over the ham. Sprinkle with lemon juice. Combine the brown sugar, orange rind and flour and sprinkle over the ham. Bake at 350 degrees for 30 to 35 minutes. (Four servings.)

Or, for a late and lazy brunch, or take-along for a pot luck supper, here's:

HAM 'N' EGG 'N' CHEESE

1 cup cracker crumbs
3/4 cup mushroom soup, undiluted
1/2 cup grated American cheese
1 cup chopped ham
3 diced pimientos
2 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
Black pepper, salt, hot pepper sauce as desired

In buttered 9-inch baking dish, sprinkle 1/4 layer of cracker crumbs, and follow with layers of ingredients as listed. Repeat to fill the dish, and top with buttered crumbs.

Bake at 375 degrees for approximately 25 minutes until bubbly and crusty. (Six to eight servings.)

And, with whole fryers featured at National and Winn-Dixie and Jitney Jungle, along with a special price on fryer leg quarters at Delchamps, there's truly a "chicken for every pot."

Summertime and picnics call for good old Southern Fried Chicken, or cold roast chicken or barbecued chicken; and when everyone is replete after the occasion, there's still some left for sandwiches and creamed chicken and chicken salad, and for this tasty dish:

EVER SO EASY CHICKEN ENCHILADAS

2 cups chopped cooked chicken
2 (8 oz.) jars taco sauce
1 Tbsp. chicken-flavor instant bouillon
2 cups half-and-half
10 to 12 (8 inch) flour tortillas
2 cups (8 oz.) shredded Monterey Jack cheese
Fresh parsley sprigs (optional)

Jalapeno peppers (optional)
Combine chicken and taco sauce in a large saucepan, and cook over low heat for 15 minutes, stirring often. Dissolve bouillon in half-and-half in a large skillet over low heat, but do not boil, please!

Cook tortillas one at a time in an ungreased skillet about 10 seconds on each side or until softened, then dip each tortilla into the half-and-half mixture.

Spoon a heaping tablespoon of the chicken mixture in the center of each tortilla, roll up tightly, and place seam-side down in a lightly greased 13x9x2-inch baking dish. Pour remaining half-and-half mixture over tortillas, sprinkle with cheese, and bake at 350 degrees for 30 minutes. Garnish with parsley and jalapeno peppers if desired. (Eight servings.)

—From Southern Magazine cookbook.

If you cook one of the rump roasts on special at Winn-Dixie, or the bottom round roast, or the Boston Butt Pork Roast at Delchamps, you'll have meat for a couple of other meals, at least, with some for stashing, sliced or chunked or whatever, the the freezer for a day when you can't abide the thought of cooking!

As I write this, some tasty shrimp from Jitney Jungle are on the agenda—I couldn't resist the special on medium headless shrimp. There's some a-marinating in the fridge for pickled shrimp, and some a-baking in a peppered shrimp and egg casserole. First, here's:

PICKLED SHRIMP

(I usually do this in much larger batches, but I wanted to try out a couple of other recipes, and a five-pound bag of shrimp goes only so far!)

2 lbs. raw shrimp, peeled and cleaned
2 medium onions, sliced into rings

1/4 cups oil
1/4 cups white vinegar
1/2 cup sugar
1/4 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. celery seed
4 Tbsp. capers with juice
Place shrimp in boiling salted water three minutes or so until pink and tender, drain, rinse and chill. Make alternate layers of shrimp and onion rings in a sealable container. Mix remaining ingredients and pour over shrimp and onions. Seal, and refrigerate for 6 hours or more, shaking or inverting container occasionally. Remove shrimp from marinade and serve as hors d'oeuvre.

—From Sea Grant Advisory Service

And, here's: PEPPERED SHRIMP AND EGG

1/2 lb. shrimp, peeled and cleaned
3 slices bacon
1/2 cup onion, chopped
3/4 cup bell (green) pepper, chopped

1/2 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. cayenne pepper
6 eggs, beaten
1/4 cup half-and-half
1/2 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
Barely cook shrimp, drain. Fry bacon crisp, drain and crumble. Sauté the onion and green pepper in bacon drippings until tender, add the shrimp and seasonings, and heat.

Combine the eggs and cream with the bacon and Worcestershire sauce, add to the shrimp mixture and cook until the eggs are firm, stirring from time to time. You can even serve this in the saucepan! (Four to six servings.)

And, use up the remainder of those large, green peppers or some of them, from Delchamps in:

PEPPER-TOMATO SAUCE

6 large green peppers, cut into quarter-inch strips
2 medium onions, chopped
1/4 cup vegetable oil
4 large tomatoes, peeled and cut into wedges
1 1/4 tsp. dried whole basil

Sauté the green pepper and onion in oil over medium heat for 10 minutes, then add the remaining ingredients, stirring well. Cover, reduce the heat and simmer for 15 minutes. This makes a delicious side dish, especially with steak or roast. (8 to 10 servings.)

MISSISSIPPI FOODS

Can Mississippi entrepreneurs compete in the high-stakes world of specialty foods?

"Farmweek" visits the International Food and Confection Show held recently in Atlanta and follows several Mississippi producers of gourmet delicacies as they work to make their mark on the specialty food world on the Monday, July 10, edition.

Airing at 7:30 p.m., on Mississippi ETV, "Farmweek" also takes a look at new herbicide and pesticide labels and labeling procedures.

CLUBS, AUXILIARIES

Take Off Pounds Sensibly

WAVELAND

Tops No. 233 Waveland met July 18. Top loser of the week was Debbie Stieffel. Charlotte Tartavouille earned her 40-pound-loss charm and a bracelet for being half way to her goal.

The club invites anyone interested in weight control to visit. Meetings are each Tuesday at the Waveland Library on Coleman Avenue between 7 and 7:30 p.m. Weigh-ins are between 6:30 and 7 p.m.

For additional information contact Charlotte at 467-5790.

Gulf Coast Writers Association

New officers for 1989-90 have been elected by the Gulf Coast Writers Association. Patricia Boudreaux of Gulfport will serve as president. Terry Thompson of Diamondhead will be vice-president.

Others elected include Nancy Miller of Gulfport, secretary; Carl Danna of Pass Christian, treasurer; J. Seward of Ocean Springs, new settlers editor; Celeste Neuffer of Gulfport, publicity chairman; Margaret P. Arch of Gulfport, education chairman; and Veda Corry of Biloxi, chairman. The new officers begin their terms in September.

GCWA members have had an active summer. Claudia Reilly of Ocean Springs recently spent two weeks in Los Angeles negotiating terms for a contract with Republic Pictures Television. She returns to the West Coast in August for three months to develop a sitcom pilot.

Patricia Boatner had just signed contracts for a Norwegian translation of her novel All Our Tomorrows. Kim Campbell, GCWA president, and Mary Minn Fargason both had articles in the June-July issue of Mississippi Coast Magazine. The magazine also features restaurant reviews by Terry Thompson.

Poetry by Nancy Miller was published in the National Arts Society's Poems of Great America and in Southern Poetry Association's spring anthology, Diamonds and Dewdrops. SPA has also notified Miller, Fargason, Fargason and Brenda Finnigan of Pasadena of awards for poems entered in their fall contest and upcoming publication in the fall anthology.

GCWA is a professional writing group formed by and for writers. Its purpose is to promote the art and support writers in all fields.

Membership is open to all published persons interested in the craft of writing. Meetings are held the fourth Thursday of each month at 7 p.m. in Room 104 of Parker Hall at William Carey College on the Gulf.

Guest speaker for the July 27 meeting will be Ronnie Bell, publisher of the Star Journal. A special committee meeting has been set for Aug. 2 for anyone interested in working on the 1990 Writers Conference. For more information, call 832-2713 or 832-2740.

Hancock Lions Club

The Hancock County Lions Club held its installation of 1989-90 officers last Saturday at the Hancock County Courthouse. District Governor Tommy King was installing officers.

King, who was accompanied by his wife, Sandra, is a member of the Columbia club.

Lions officers included installed Raymond Rome, president; Loney Necaise, first vice president; Ronald Peterson, second vice president; Lucille Boudreaux, secretary; Ella Rome, treasurer; and Joyce Bermond, trail twister.

Ella Rome was mistress of ceremonies. Boudreaux led the Pledge of Allegiance and the singing of God Bless America. The Reverend Van Carpenter, pastor of Main Street United Methodist Church. Guest speaker was Victor Frank Fowler Jr., former Bay St. Louis mayor.

Outgoing President Joyce Bermond addressed the group. Special guests included Loney Necaise, past District 30N secretary; Region IV Chairman Robert D. Foley and his wife, Kathleen; Region IV Zone 2 Chairman Alvin White; Bay St. Louis Mayor Eddie Favre; Sheriff Ronnie Peterson and his wife, Darlene; Bay City Councilman Charles Scannia and Boat 3 Supervisor Lisa Coward.

Boudreaux presented a past president's pin and plaque to Joyce Bermond and the outstanding treasurer plaque to Raymond Rome.

Bermond presented Boudreaux with an outstanding secretary plaque, a Membership Growth Award from Lions International President Austin Jennings and the 'Lion of the Year Award'.

Loney Necaise received an outstanding service award. Appreciation awards were given Billy Pigott and Past District Governor Ernest Landrum, Picayune Evening Lions Club; Former Mayor Frankiewicz; Ellis Cuevas, publisher of The Sea Coast Echo; Hancock Sheriff Peterson; Bay Police Chief Ray Murphy; past District Deputy Governor Jerry Felder; and past District Governor Greg Crapo.

Frankiewicz praised the club for their contributions to the community, noting that many of the social welfare programs had been cut and that organizations like the Lions Club were taking up the slack.

Services mentioned included the van service offered by the state Lions Clubs to screen blood pressure, eyes and hearing for adults and children; providing eyeglasses and hearing aids, all at no cost to the public.

Old eyeglasses and hearing aids are accepted by the group. For pick-up, call Lucille Boudreaux at 467-4974. New members are encouraged to join the service organization. With only six members, they were ranked eighth in the state out of 183 clubs, according to Crapo, who commended the group.

Refreshments were enjoyed following the meeting.

Timber Ridge Social Club

The regular monthly meeting of the Timber Ridge Social Club was Monday, July 17 at the home of Mrs. Kay Arcement.

President, Mrs. Maxine Costa, presided. Minutes were read and accepted, followed by the treasurer's and various committee reports.

Two new members were initiated into the organization which provides a way to meet neighbors, plan neighborhood socials and administer the Neighborhood Watch Program.

A pool party with a Mexican theme will be held at the home of Mrs. F. Wilson on Saturday, July 29 at 7 p.m.

The meeting adjourned and refreshments were served.

American Legion Auxiliary Unit 139

The joint meeting of the Clement R. Bontemps American Legion Post and Auxiliary 139 was held Friday, July 14 at the Legion home.

Commander Henry Prevou opened the meeting; the color-bearers advanced the colors; the chaplain read the prayers; and the entire assembly participated in the Pledge of Allegiance followed by the Preamble.

President Janet Aime congratulated Mmes. Lou Wilkerson, state historian; Susan Piazza, outstanding American Legion Auxiliary member of the year, who will represent Mississippi at the national convention in Baltimore; and Genevieve Cole for her 50 years of loyalty and service to the American Legion Auxiliary. She presented Rose Rutherford with a life membership which was accepted by "Big John."

Mrs. Aime then introduced Mrs. Wilkerson as installing officer. The new slate of officers are Mmes. Margaret Prevou, president; Susan Piazza, first vice president; Lucille Boudreaux, second vice president; Shirley Clemons, secretary; Bobbye Tomlinson, treasurer; and Ursula Favre, chaplain.

Also Mrs. Jeanette Ladner, historian; Margie Schultz, sergeant-at-arms; Anna Brehm, Beatrice Lander and Mattie North, executive board; and Hazel Wohlschlegel and Christie LaFontaine, color-bearers.

There was a display of plaques, trophies and certificates of appreciation and participation which had been awarded to the various committee chairmen at the state convention.

Guests were presented, including 9th District president, Mrs. Bessie Ladner; president of Unit 77, Mrs. Shirley Cox; Mrs. Shirley Williams, Irene Giaccone and Dorothy Biehlstein; Bay St. Louis Mayor Eddie Favre and wife; and former state commander Clayton Thompson and Rose Ann Thompson.

The solution to cataracts has never been clearer than it is now, at Slidell Memorial.

Sight. For most of us, it's everything. But when cataracts take it away, there's no treatment, no medication. Just surgery.

And now cataract surgery is more successful than ever, thanks to a NASA scientist who developed a high-technology intraocular lens (IOL) implant, polished for smoothness and clarity. This new lens is the most advanced IOL available.

And it's available in this area only at Slidell Memorial. Which means you don't have to go to a hospital in New Orleans to get your sight back.

Cataract surgery at Slidell Memorial, using a variety of IOL implants, is performed on an outpatient basis under local anesthesia, usually in less than an hour. Improvement begins at once, with normal vision returning in just weeks.

Post-operative care prevents infection and inflammation, and ensures the IOL's stability and the normal healing of the eyes. Some patients may require glasses to correct vision fully.

Slidell Memorial's cataract program is one of the ways we treat medical problems that require advanced treatment, conveniently close to home.

For medical solutions that work with you and for you, the clear choice is Slidell Memorial.

Water and boat safety tips could save a life.

With summertime upon us, both children and adults alike are heading to pools, lakes and the beach. And because drowning in either boating or swimming accidents is yet another leading cause of accidental deaths in this country, anyone who goes near the water should know how to swim.

Almost anyone can learn how to swim, from newborn babies to older people to people with disabilities. In addition, people can receive swimming lessons at a variety of places—local Y's, schools, community or recreation centers, health clubs, camps and Red Cross organizations all offer swimming lessons.

But even the expert swimmer needs to be aware of and obey basic water safety—including the cardinal rule of never swimming alone or in a secluded place.

Follow these basic water safety rules:

- * Do not allow a child to play alone at the water's edge—this includes even the shallow backyard "baby pool."
- * Know your limits and don't venture beyond your depth and level of energy. A sudden cause of drowning.
- * Don't swim after drinking alcoholic beverages.
- * Never dive into water without first checking the depth.
- * Don't swim in the dark, especially in the ocean.
- * Don't swim in boating or fishing areas.

- * When thunder or lightning occurs, immediately get out of the water.
- * Young children and inexperienced swimmers should wear life jackets in the water. Flats, inner tubes and inflatable water toys are not to be used as substitutes since they are not as sturdy and durable as life jackets.

Boating safety begins with the boat owner's complete understanding of the capabilities of the particular craft. If other riding in a rowboat or motorboat, never go out in a boat unless someone on board knows how to operate the craft.

In addition to the basic safety rules for swimmers, boaters should pay attention to the following guidelines:

- * All persons must wear life jackets. Children sleeping on a boat should wear one to bed.
- * Straps of reflective tape on the back of the jacket.
- * Know and follow the boat regulations that apply to the particular waterway.
- * Look out for other crafts that may be slower than you.

and may be unable to get out of your path—even if you have the right of way.

- * Water-skiers should always wear a life jacket and there should be two people in the boat: one to watch the skier and one to drive the boat.
- * Watch for swimmers who may also be in your way.
- * Don't drink while boating.
- * Know the capability of your boat; if storms are approaching, head for safer waters or port.
- * Always carry flares and other warning devices in case you should get stranded; make sure running lights and the boat radio are in working order.

- * If your boat capsizes, do not leave it in an attempt to swim ashore. It will provide a place to rest and it will be more easily spotted than a swimmer in the water.

Swimming, boating and other outdoor activities are all part of summer. Practicing safety and being prepared for emergencies are the best way to ensure a fun-filled summer.

Medical Emergency seminar is July 27

Hancock Medical Center will host a free program on Thursday, July 27 at 7 p.m. titled "Medical Emergencies: How Prepared Are You?"

In this seminar Dr. Maria Hugi, specialist in emergency medicine, will cover such topics as water emergencies, how to help a choking person, what to do for snake or spider bites and other emergency situations. To register for this program, call Hancock Medical Center at 467-9081 ext. 2180 between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m.

Bay St. Louis

Medical Assistants

"Retin-A" was the topic of guest speaker William R. Clement, MD at the July 13 meeting of Coast Counties Chapter of Medical Assistants held at Barnaby's Restaurant in Long Beach.

Retin-A, a cream first used for acne, is now being used on patients for various reasons. It has had dramatic improvements when used on patients ages 50 through 70 in removing and controlling wrinkles and has also removed sun damaged areas and is used in the removal of pre-cancerous lesions.

Dr. Clement, a board certified dermatologist, has been in private practice in Gulfport since 1967. He is on the staff of Memorial Hospital in Gulfport and Garden Park Hospital.

The next meeting will be on Thursday, Aug. 10 at Chimney's Restaurant in Long Beach at 6:30 p.m. Dr. John W. DeGroot will present a program on AIDS.

Medical office personnel and medical assisting students are urged to attend this meeting. For information and reservations, contact Linda Long at 864-6244 or Sherry Goulette at 864-6049 by Friday, Aug. 4.
